The Women's Fund of Hancock County Announces 2010 Grant Opportunity

Article

The Hancock County Community Foundation has announced its 2010 Women's Fund of Hancock County Grant Cycle. The Women's Fund of Hancock County is a fund of the Hancock County Community Foundation whose mission is to inspire women and girls to unite through charitable giving for the purpose of addressing needs and issues affecting women and families in our community.

This grant cycle will focus on programs giving hope to Hancock County women and children by supporting the following areas that work to provide mentors, education, opportunities, and a picture of a better life beyond today. Grants awarded will range from $1000 to $7000.

In order to qualify for funds, applicants must be nonprofit organizations, including churches, schools, and government-based organizations doing charitable work, with administrative offices in Hancock County, Indiana.

The Letter of Intent is due at the HCCF office at 312 E. Main Street by 4:00 pm on Friday, February 5, 2010. Final proposals will be due to the Foundation office by March 25, 2010. If you have questions about whether your organization qualifies or would like to obtain an application, please contact Rachel Strong, Program Officer, at 317-462-8870 or e-mail rstrong@hccf.cc.
